JAPAN THREATENS TO "CLOSE DOOR" AS RETALIATION

Manchukuo Spokesman Says World Commerce Will Be Shut Out If Powers Try To Outlaw Japanese Acts.

SELF-SUFFICIENCY SEEN FOR NATION

"Let League and Supporters Go Their Way and We Will Go Ours," Is Tokyo Attitude.

By JAMES A. MILLS.
CHANGCHUN, Manchuria, Feb. 12.—(AP)—A threat to slam the open door in Manchuria in the world's face if the powers attempt to outlaw Japan was voiced today by a spokesman for Manchukuo, the new state set up several months ago with the assistance of Japan.

(The League of Nations is considering the Manchukuo situation in connection with the Sino-Japanese troubles. A subcommittee of the League assembly, one of the recommendations of the subcommittee was that members of the League continue to refuse to recognize the government of Manchukuo.)

The spokesman, Chiuchi Ohashi, a Japanese subject who holds the post of vice-minister of foreign affairs for Manchukuo.

"If the League and other powers shut the door of recognition against Manchukuo," he said, "boycott Japan, and then Manchukuo, Japan may be forced at the same time to slam the open door in Manchuria against them."

Rich Country.

"Let the League and the powers go their way and we will go ours without misgivings for the future," he added. "Recognition of the world's recognition, we have one of the richest and most self-sufficient countries in the world and we can feed ourselves indefinitely without help."

Both Japanese and Manchukuo officials here professed to believe that the League's attitude concerning independence of Manchukuo and the Manchukuo League was a "disgrace" to the League. They declared they were not alarmed by this prospect but were confident the League would lose more thereby than Japan and Manchukuo.

(The Japanese have said they consider Jehol a rightful part of Manchukuo. Recent dispatches have told of the reputed massing of troops by Japanese to invade the province on a large scale.)

The officials indicated that a rupture was likely especially if the League attempted sanctions against Manchukuo.

70,000 Reported Dead In Chinese Earthquake

PEIPING, China, Feb. 12.—(UP)—Reports of 70,000 killed in an earthquake in remote Kansu province were brought today by foreigners reaching Peiping from the desolated area.

The foreigners said the quake occurred on December 26, destroying literally scores of towns and villages in the mountains of Kansu.

They arrived by car, the caravans taking weeks to cover the thousands of miles from the interior province. The foreigners said they encountered hundreds of destitute refugees fleeing from the quake area as they traveled from Suichow, Kansu, to the "outside."

The extreme mid-winter cold added to the misery of the quake victims, causing many deaths.

Kansu, in China's far northwest, near a great desert, is mountainous, desolate country where constant civil wars and natural disasters make life precarious for 6,000,000 inhabitants. An earthquake a few years ago was said to have been the worst disaster of its kind in recent history, and deaths of almost a million were related months after the catastrophe occurred.

Muslim chieftains harass the country, adding to the hardships with semi-barbaric fierceness in their raids.

Recognition of Soviet Urged by Clergymen

NEW YORK, Feb. 12.—(AP)—Four hundred and thirty Protestant clergymen of New York state signed a petition urging recognition of Russia sent to President-elect Roosevelt today by the Fellowship of Reconciliation.

J. B. Matthews, executive secretary of the organization, said the same request, signed by 800 college professors and presidents, had been forwarded to the president-elect two weeks ago.

The petition read: "In the interests of world peace and as a measure of mutual economic advantage we urge the immediate recognition of the Soviet government by the United States."

"Only 14 clergymen, out of those approached, declined to request the government's recognition of the Soviets," Matthews declared.

SUNDAY MOVIES, AUTO TAG BILLS HOLD SPOTLIGHT

Hearing To Be Held Today on Amusements Measure; License Conferees Will Get Together

Two legislative measures, one of importance only to Atlanta but the second interesting to the entire state, will be dispatched either on the road to enactment or to oblivion today, the 26th day of the general assembly's biennial session.

The Atlanta measure is the bill of Representatives Still and Eckford, of Fulton county, which provides for Sunday movies, sports and other amusements, which will be given a public hearing before the house county and county matters committee at 3 o'clock this afternoon.

The measure of statewide import is the automobile license tag bill which has been in conference for 10 days. The conferees have two bills before them. One was passed by the house. It provides a tag price range of from $3 to $15. The other was adopted by the senate and its price range is from $3.63 to $15. The conferees are to meet at 5 o'clock this afternoon in an effort to iron out the differences between the bills of the two houses.

Road Board Reorganization.

Today's activities of the legislators will focus attention on the highway department. The first of these will be the introduction of a bill in the house to reorganize the highway department, increasing its membership from seven to ten. This bill will have the full support of the administration members of the assembly as Governor Eugene Talmadge has made it a condition that he wants the department reorganized so that it will be under control of the governor.

Another matter to get considerable attention today will be the first hearing of the special house and senate committee investigating rumors of alleged job-selling in the department. This committee, headed by Representative E. H. Elbert, will hold its first meeting this afternoon in the audience chamber of the public service commission. G. C. Adams, commissioner of agriculture, is the only person known to have been subpoenaed by the committee for its meeting this afternoon.

There is pending in the senate a resolution to name a committee to investigate every department of the government to determine where salaries can be cut, where offices can be eliminated.

Constitution on Air Hour Earlier Tonight

The Constitution's regular late night broadcast will be given from 9:45 to 10 o'clock tonight in order that President Hoover's address before the Republican Club from New York might go on uninterrupted over the Columbia Broadcasting System and WISN. The broadcast will follow at the conclusion of the new broadcast, Tuesday night and thereafter the Constitution's broadcast of news will be given at the regular hour, from 9:45 to 10 o'clock at night.

Toby Cook and Four Pony Steeds Start on Inaugural Trip Today

CHULA, Ga., Feb. 12.—(AP)—His four ponies are about as groomed and with sunrise tomorrow Toby Cook, 7 years old, will start riding them in a relay to Washington, 800 miles away, for the inauguration of his good friend, Franklin D. Roosevelt.

While there, he will be the guest of another good friend, Senator Richard B. Russell Jr., of Georgia, who is going to try and see that Toby and his ponies have a place in the inaugural parade down Pennsylvania avenue.

The young horseman expects to travel about 75 miles a day, taking time about riding a pony while the other three follow in a truck. He will change mounts every five miles in order to spare his little steeds.

His departure will take the form of a civic celebration. Playmates and neighbors of his family plan to accompany him to the nearby city of Tifton and there the journey will get under way officially to the cheers of a multitude. None less than the Tifton board of trade ventures the prediction that about everybody in town will turn out.

SENATE CONSIDERS PERMANENT CHECK ON COTTON OUTPUT

WASHINGTON, Feb. 12.—(AP)—A permanent plan for controlling cotton production was introduced today in the senate. The measure aimed at reducing the 1933 output received consideration in senate circles tonight.

Having just approved on Saturday the Smith bill dealing with the present year's crop alone, the senate agriculture committee tomorrow will take up the Bankhead plan of holding production to a predetermined level each season.

This proposal, involving a prohibitive 10-cent per pound tax on all cotton marketed above each producer's allotted share as determined by a "board of cotton supply control," was offered by Senator Bankhead, Democrat, Alabama, as an amendment to the domestic allotment bill.

To Substitute.

The purpose of the Smith bill was described by its sponsor, the senior senator from South Carolina, as "to afford relief to the cotton growers by allowing them the opportunity of substituting the government cotton in lieu of production by them in 1933."

Each planter agreeing to produce at least 30 per cent less than last year would be given an option on an amount of the government cotton equal to his cut, with the right to pocket the difference between its present and August 15 price, less carrying charges, should it go up. If it went down he would not have to make the deal.

A split between the senate agriculture committee working on the allotment bill and members of the farm organization conference that drew it up was accentuated on Saturday morning when the committee struck out five of the seven products it contained as passed by the house.

President Edward A. O'Neal, of the American Farm Bureau Federation; C. O. Moser, vice president of the American Cotton Cooperative Association, and others, are just as emphatically opposed to the two other drastic reductions proposed by Chairman McNary, Republican, Oregon, and scheduled to be passed upon tomorrow.

The Hull farm mortgage foreclosure moratorium bill reported favorably Saturday by a senate banking subcommittee met the vigorous opposition of the American Cotton Cooperative Association, in letters to banking committee members.

The bill, sponsored by Senator Hull, Democrat, Tennessee, is designed to postpone foreclosure for two years by loans from the Reconstruction Corporation to holders of mortgages to enable them to pay their borrowers' delinquent taxes and other charges. As it now stands awaiting approval by the full committee, it would require the mortgagee to pay $8,000 as well as farm property.

Instead of the Hull bill, O'Neal and McNary advocated enactment of as much as possible of a broad program drawn by the farm organization and including a $1,000,000,000 corporation to lend money to farmers.

ASA A. LEMON, 44, 1 DEAD, MANY HURT VICTIM OF BULLET IN MOTOR CRASHES

Motor Company Employee Found Dead in Office, With Pistol in Hand.

ASA A. Lemon, 44, of 318 Fourth street, N. E., office manager and bookkeeper of the Cauthorn Motor Company, 505 West Peachtree street, died in a motor crash Sunday night with a bullet wound in the back of his head. Detectives expressed the opinion after investigating that Lemon killed himself.

J. J. Bullard, associated with Mr. Lemon in the motor company, said that Mrs. Lemon called on top of her house Sunday night and said that she was worried as to her husband's whereabouts. Mr. Bullard, according to police, came downstairs and after getting Patrolmen H. T. Robinson and J. F. Aldridge went into the company's office. They found Mr. Lemon slumped over a desk and in his right hand a .32-caliber automatic pistol which had been fired once. The bullet, police said, entered one inch back of the head.

Mr. Lemon had been an employee of the Cauthorn company for 12 years and was one of the most prominent of the act. Coroner Paul Donohoe will hold an inquest at 2 o'clock this afternoon. The body was sent to the embalming parlors of Awtry & Lowndes.

Mr. Lemon is survived by his wife, two daughters, Misses Anne and Dorothy, a sister, Mrs. Annie Lemon Daniel, one nephew, Robbie Daniel, and a niece, Miss Eudora Daniel.

Burning Boat in Tow After Fire Kills Two

BOSTON, Feb. 12.—(AP)—The Boston fishing trawler Newton, ravaged by fire for 48 hours and with two of her crew of 14 reported dead, was being towed tonight on the end of a tow line.

The steamship West Eldara, due to dock here last night, came upon the helpless, sinking vessel 15 miles east of Boston and sent out a call for aid at 11:08 a. m. today.

Her wireless, pumps and engines disabled because of the fire, the original cause of which could not be determined, the Newton was at the mercy of flames and the sea when the West Eldara came upon her.

The coast guard cutter Mojave, active in previous rescues, started from her patrol position on receipt of the call for help. She later reported to the Boston headquarters that she reached the Newton at 3:25 p. m.

A message said a tow line had been attached to the Newton within 35 minutes and that the trawler was being towed to port.

Three Men Badly Cut In Affray at Dance

HOYT RAINWATER, H. A. Rainwater and H. W. Davis were in Grady hospital Sunday night with serious stab wounds following a cutting affray that occurred late Saturday night at a dance at a rural home about six miles west of Fairburn. Officers at Palmertown who investigated the cutting were done by Alan Minix, of Coweta county. There has been no arrest.

According to reports the dance was given at the home of a man named Bishop who recently moved to the Fairburn district from Center, Ala. His residence is next door to "The Rocks," popular establishment on the lower Campbellton road. An argument between the three men developed into the knife fight. The three injured men were brought to the hospital here by Fred Aske, of Fairburn.

Doctors at Grady said Sunday that there is little hope for the recovery of Hoyt Rainwater.

Darrow Will Aid Auto Strike Probe

CHICAGO, Feb. 12.—(AP)—Clarence Darrow tonight was interested in a new cause, help for striking workers at the Briggs Manufacturing Company plant at Detroit.

The veteran Chicago attorney met with a delegation from Detroit during the day and promised his aid in a probe into the investigation of the strike. A number of workers there have been arrested for disturbing the peace.

Reverent Celebration Opens Bicentennial Savannah, Site of Oglethorpe's Landing, Leads Georgia in Commemoration of 200th Anniversary of Event.

SAVANNAH, Ga., Feb. 12.—Two hundred years ago a work band of colonists under James Oglethorpe clambered wearily up the Yamacraw bluffs to a site they had named Savannah.

Two hundred years ago the first citizens of Georgia assembled for prayer. Following this, as the group of 120 colonists stood beneath the giant pines of Georgia, Oglethorpe reminded them of the far-reaching effects upon future generations of their actions.

And today, a state rich in its people, its resources and its heritage, reverently celebrated the landing of the actions of the generation today which have a far-reaching effect on future generations in Georgia.

The great pines still away, the great spirit of those early Georgians still lives, kindled by the sweeping emotions of a great state reviewing 200 years of magnificent progress and triumph over seeming disaster.

Descendants of those colonists who turned a wilderness into a bountiful land gathered at the spot where was founded the colony of Georgia for the sake of honest souls imprisoned for no reason save debt.

Could the general have returned in the flesh, he would not have known scenes so familiar. Sky-scrapers stand where tepees of Tomochichi and his Yamacraw Indians used to top the bluffs of the Savannah river. Cowpaths of the colony have given place to boulevards, the ring of hammer and saw in the hands of colonists building homes has been succeeded by traffic's roar and steamboats' whistling.

Georgia's celebration of her 200th birthday started with memorial services at old Christ church, which was founded the day Oglethorpe stepped from water to land and spread throughout the state.

Right Reverend Henry J. Mikell, Episcopal bishop of Atlanta, preached a patriotic sermon and five other bishops of his church participated in the services at Savannah. They were Bishops F. F. Reese, of the Georgia diocese; Boyd Vincent, retired, of the Southern Ohio diocese and the oldest in point of consecration in the church; John D. Wing, of southern Florida, a former rector of Christ church; Albert Thomas, of South Carolina, and Albion Knight, coadjutor of New Jersey.

In the afternoon the Society of Colonial Wars unveiled a sundial in Johnson square in memory of Colonel William Bull, of South Carolina.

The colonel was a friend of Oglethorpe and did much to help the little settlement on the bluff.

Memorial addresses were made by J. Randolph Anderson and Mayor Thomas Gamble, of Savannah. Charles Ellis, governor of the Georgia Society of Colonial Wars, presided, and Rev. Henry Bull, of Georgetown, S. C., a descendant of Colonel Bull, participated.

Later in the day patriotic exercises were held in the old church under auspices of the Georgia Society of the Colonial Dames of America. Mrs. James P. Andrews, national president, spoke on "The Faith of Our Fathers."

"The contribution of religion to the early days of the colony" was extolled by Bishop Warren A. Candler, of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, in a sermon he delivered at Trinity Methodist church.

All other churches in the city held bicentennial services and the Jewish community observed the day with memorial services.

SENATE DRYS DROP FILIBUSTER HINT AS BALLOT LOOMS

Brookhart Indicates He Will Tie Up Chamber With Talk To Prevent Test on Repeal Plan.

By NATHAN ROBERTSON.
WASHINGTON, Feb. 12.—(AP)—The first open sign that friends of prohibition in the senate intend to block a vote on repeal at this session came today with the Blaine repeal resolution about to be taken up after weeks of waiting on the calendar.

A sharp warning from the determined prohibitionist, Brookhart, Republican, Iowa, jotted the hopes of sponsors of the repeal proposal that there would be no concerted effort to prevent the repeal vote.

The Blaine resolution is next on the senate's agenda, and in the absence of any apparent organized move among friends of prohibition to block a vote on it, leaders had predicted approval at this session.

Brookhart Threat.

With the "zero hour" approaching, however, Brookhart broke the calm today by serving notice that a battle which would not be a "pink-tea affair" was in prospect. The Iowa senator said he would talk "plenty" on the measure, and predicted it would not reach a vote.

Brookhart's warning took on added significance in the eyes of senate leaders, as they recognize a growing impatience among some of their colleagues to get the repeal issue out of the way and take up unemployment relief.

Realizing that the session has only about three weeks to run, senate leaders are growing more persistent in their demands for action, and party leaders are making commitments which will ease the task of those seeking to block a vote on repeal.

Blaine's repeal proposal probably will be called up in the senate within the next two or three days, after the pending department supply bill is out of the way. It may be temporary, however, to permit consideration of the state, justice, commerce and labor appropriation bill which will bring along with it another prohibition battle.

Million Reduction.

This bill carries $8,440,000 for prohibition enforcement, representing a reduction of more than $1,000,000 from the $9,500,000 fund recommended by the budget.

Friends of the dry laws propose an additional reduction of $1,000,000 from the $8,440,000 fund recommended by the budget. A long conflict over this item would still further jeopardize the chances of Blaine's resolution.

Several opponents of repeal have said that though they would oppose the Blaine proposal they would not be admitted to prevent from casting a vote. Brookhart was the first to indicate that it would not be allowed to reach the balloting stage.

He said that the National Prohibition party had taken the position of prohibition had now taken his position. Brookhart disclosed at the same time that he is agreed with opponents of the Blaine resolution, which would give the federal and state governments concurrent jurisdiction to control the sale of intoxicants.

12,000,000 Jobless In Jan., Says Green

WASHINGTON, Feb. 12.—(AP)—Twelve million American workers are unemployed, according to President Hoover, in the American Federation of Labor, to have been out of work during January.

Green said today that the reports from the organizations indicated that unemployment increased 300,000 over the December peak, reaching a new record during January.

He said that the organizations indicated that the shortened work week in some industries had resulted in a lessening of the usual seasonal employment decline.

"Unemployment in January was at its all-time peak," he said, "with more than 12,000,000 wage earners out of work, according to estimates of a widespread organization of labor. Our estimate for December, 1932, showed 11,900,000 unemployed and trade union reports showed an increase in unemployment from December to January which, when applied to the country at large indicates at least 200,000 more laid off in industry alone by the first of the year."

Vignettes of Georgia History, Canvases of Struggle, of Triumph

By JAMES H. STREET.
SAVANNAH, Ga., Feb. 12.—(AP)—James Oglethorpe came to his journey's end here 200 years ago today, parked his little ship off the savannah wharves, planted the banner of his empire on a new land and called it Georgia.

The name honored a monarch and promised a new deal to his followers—freedom from economic servitude. Smoke from the mud chimneys of crude stockades and cabins was a message of hope across the languid skies.

Oglethorpe was a nobleman with a mission. To his south lay the Golden Isles of Guale—nest by was the Spanish Main, the artery of a Castilian civilization in the western world. And to Georgia fell the task of being a buffer between the home-building British in the north colonies and the gold-mad Spaniards to the south.

That was the mission of Georgia. A panacea—200 years of it—showing success of the purpose. A tiny colony—the Battle of Bloody Marsh—the doom of Spanish conquest on the seaboard—the era of expansion—the revolution.

Cross-eyed Nancy Hart—the Battle of Kettle Creek—the flight of the Red Coats. A new republic—the "Wisdom of Moderation." Clarke and the Creeks—a broader frontier—the planting of cotton—the birth of an agrarian civilization, carried on leisure and born of the servitude of slaves.

A new culture—gentle bred women and gallant men—horse pistols—mansions. William Crawford who might have been president—the voyage of the Savannah. The bloody midday passage of the freebooters—bodies dangling from halyards—the grisly slave trade—the invention of the cotton gin—the coming of rail.

The clash of the agrarian civilization with an industrial civilization—the war between brothers—Alexander Stephens—Old Man Tucker who strummed his fiddle.

Man Fails in Attempt To Escape Wife in Jail

HOUSTON, Texas, Feb. 12.—(AP) Police station vignette:

A middle-aged businessman, whose name was withheld, strode up to Sergeant F. S. Anderson and said: "Look me up."

"What for?" asked Anderson.

"I'm giving up; I just ran a traffic light."

Anderson complied with the request. Then a woman came hurrying in.

"If you are going to lock him up, you can just lock me up, too," said she. "I'm his wife."

"What's all this about?" Anderson wanted to know.

"She just broke up a poker game at my office and now she wants me to go home," explained the husband. "I'll stay in jail first."

"Get out of here," said Anderson, "and show some other place to hide from your wife."

ROOSEVELT POWER TO SLASH BUDGET IN BALANCE TODAY

Conferees Expected To Approve Senate Plan Rather Than House's More Drastic One.

By CECIL B. DICKSON.
WASHINGTON, Feb. 12.—(AP)—The extent to which congress will dedicate its powers in giving President-elect Roosevelt the most potent authority ever held by one man to reorganize the government will be considered by senate and house conferees tomorrow along the lines of the proposals adopted by the senate.

Although Speaker Garner was still insistent on his proposition to "go the limit" under the constitution in granting the incoming executive autocratic authority, opposition voiced in both branches and by government officials and outside organizations forecast a compromise plan.

Senate conferees on the treasury-postoffice department supply bill, on which the economy provisions are attached, definitely indicated today that they would agree, generally to the original proposals of Senator Byrnes, Democrat, South Carolina, giving the president power to abolish or consolidate bureaus.

However, these may be expanded slightly, but it was generally conceded by house conferees that the possibility of adoption of the Garner proposal was remote at this session. Garner wants the new president empowered to abolish, cabinet, department, bureau, salaries and reduce veterans' allowances.

Meanwhile, Speaker Garner made it clear that disciplinary action to force the economy program in line was contemplated but merely that an effort was to be made to sound out the sentiment of congress in all proposals to the president's broad reorganization powers.

Letters from cabinet members to Senator Byrnes, Republican, Committee protesting a 5 per cent cut in all appropriations for the next fiscal year, as provided under the Bratton amendment, the treasury postoffice bill, were being studied today by members of the conference committees.

The Bratton amendment was also assailed by John Thomas Taylor, vice chairman of the legislative committee of the American Legion, in letters to the conferees in which he said it would "almost paralyze" the operations of the veterans' administration.

On the other hand, Major Henry H. Cullen, director of the National Economy League, addressed a letter to Senator Hale, Republican, Maine, chairman of the senate appropriations committee, requesting that the independent offices bill carrying the veterans' appropriation be held over until the special session of the new congress in April.

Seven Persons Killed In German Disorders

BERLIN, Feb. 12.—(AP)—Seven persons were slain and a score wounded in political clashes between communists and Nazis in Germany today, according to reports which had reached here until 7 p. m. (2 p. m. eastern standard time).

Three were killed in Eisenberg and one each in Stuttgart, Eilenheim-Bochum and Dortmund.

Fifty communists were arrested at Duesseldorf, where the police and weapons and ammunition were found.

FIVE MEN FOUND BENEATH HOUSE

Quintet Caught Within 30 Minutes After Break. Police Combing City for 9 Men Still at Large.

In the second wholesale break within the last month, 14 white prisoners escaped late Sunday night from Fulton tower after opening a hole through a weather-beaten steel roof less than an inch thick and lowering themselves from the top story of the jail to the ground with knotted blankets. Five prisoners were recaptured a short time later by police.

Officers J. L. Milam and R. A. Jones discovered the jail break shortly before midnight Sunday and sounded the alarm.

All the escaped men were held for robbery, burglary and minor offenses, or were being detained for extradition to other states, it was said.

The five men recaptured were taken by city and county officers when they were found hiding under a negro house on Hunter street a block from the jail. They were John T. Moccara, recently released from the federal penitentiary, who was being held for New York state authorities; Clyde Alley, being held for robbery, who was tried several years ago in Fulton county on charges of murder; F. F. Wright, held for burglary; James Weldon, under a three-year sentence for selling stolen cars, and George Rainwater, up for trial on charges of larceny from a house.

After a check of the 400 prisoners at the tower, officers declared that only nine men were missing, though it was at first thought that 15 were unaccounted for. They were: Bill Byrd, under sentence for larceny of from 8 to 20 years; under sentence in two other charges of burglary of from 4 to 8 years; Roy Hollis, held for a trial on eight counts for robbery and under sentence of from 8 to 12 years; E. A. Knight, sentenced to 4 to 5 years in prison for burglary in the Penitentiary from 3 to 5 years; Bill Burton, burglary, 5 to 20 years; V. C. Chappell, sentenced for stealing a car, from 1 to 3 years; Edward Pierce, burglary, 1 to 3 years.

Celebrating FOUNDERS WEEK with a QUAKER MAID Thrift Sale!

This week, A&P stores throughout the Nation pay tribute to the memory of Mr. George Huntington Hartford, who, almost three-quarters of a century ago founded the first store of what is now the largest retail food organization in the world.

Then, as now, it was Mr. Hartford's plan to supply his patrons with the finest foods from the four corners of the world at moderate low prices. . . . Today the A&P organization points with pride to the hundreds of items on its shelves which were once luxuries that only the wealthy could afford, but today are commonplace items found on the lists of the poorest.

We are justly proud in presenting this QUAKER MAID THRIFT SALE, for Quaker Maid products have enjoyed the reputation for quality almost as long as the Tea Company. Since they are manufactured and distributed exclusively by the Tea Company it is but natural that these well-known foods should be sold for less through our stores as there are no middle man's profits to share and the savings are passed directly on to you.

LEAS SEE 'TRICK' IN CONVICTIONS

Colonel Explains Why He Left Nashville in Attack on Carolina Justice.

JAMESTOWN, Tenn., Feb. 12.—(AP) Colonel Luke Lea and Luke Lea Jr. said today that "having been tricked and trapped" in North Carolina and "railroaded to a conviction" without any evidence of guilt, they had been "unwilling to take chances involved in remaining in Nashville" before their extradition hearing and for that reason had come to Jamestown.

Their formal statement said that their attorneys had asked Governor Hill McAllister on January 10 for a hearing on North Carolina's requisition for them and, in case he honored it, for a 24-hour delay before extradition in order to apply for a writ of habeas corpus.

But the governor, the Leas said, did not reply to the request for a hearing until the day before it was held, and they had no assurance that the delay of their removal would be granted until "the date of the issuance of the governor's warrant on February 7, 1933."

"This is said to emphasize the fact," the statement set out, "that if we had remained in Nashville we were wholly at the mercy of the North Carolina authorities and the chief executive of Tennessee as to whether we would be given a single second in which to apply for the writ of habeas corpus."

The newspaper publisher and his son are under conviction of violating the bank laws of the Carolinas. They left Nashville January 29 and their whereabouts remained undisclosed until shortly after Governor McAllister granted their extradition on last Tuesday. Then they appeared here and surrendered to Sheriff John M. Peavyhouse.

A few hours later Circuit Judge Henry B. Brown issued a writ of habeas corpus, returnable in Jamestown tomorrow morning. But Judge Brown disallowed himself to act further in the matter and Criminal Judge J. H. S. Morrison, to whom he directed the proceedings, likewise declined to hear them.

The governor's warrant designated the North Carolina agents, Sheriff Laurence E. Brown and Deputy Frank Lahey, of Buncombe county, as the officers to make the arrests, and Judge Morrison said he was unable to see how the petitioners can be illegally held when they surrendered voluntarily to an officer who does not have a warrant for them.

Nation Celebrates

Lincoln Anniversary

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., Feb. 12.—(AP) Abraham Lincoln's life and theories were upheld today as offering a solution for the nation's problems. Drawing a parallel between conditions today and during Lincoln's troubled administration, governors of Iowa and Illinois and Federal Judge James H. Wilson, in ceremonies here, Lincoln's home and burial place, paid tribute to the Civil War president upon the 124th anniversary of his birth.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 12.—(AP)—The majestic memorial erected to Abraham Lincoln by the nation looked down today on throngs gathered to pay homage to his memory.

In ceremonies commemorating the 124th anniversary of his birth, the colors were massed, and invocation pronounced, and one by one flag-bearing delegations filed up the long steps to place wreaths.

Dr. Ward to Lecture On Farmer's Plight

The plight of the American farmer, facing general bankruptcy due to falling prices, taxes, interest and upkeep, will be discussed at the fifth meeting of the Atlanta Lectureship Series at the Y. W. C. A. at 8 o'clock tonight. Dr. Gordon H. Ward, for ten years a specialist in the study of farm problems in all parts of the country, will speak on the subject of "Men and Land," picturing the situation in which the farmer finds himself and suggesting steps looking to his immediate and permanent relief. A forum period of question and answer will follow.

The lectureship committee will present three more speakers on successive Monday evenings, culminating with an address by Norman Thomas on March 6.

Emory University Debaters To Tour Carolinas, Virginia

BOISEFUEL JONES. WILLIAM BRADY. RANDOLPH THROWER.

William Brady and Randolph Thrower, varsity debaters representing Emory University, and Boisefuel Jones, business manager of the team, will leave this morning on a debate tour through North Carolina, South Carolina and Virginia, according to an announcement by Professor Nolan A. Goodyear, chairman of the debate council.

The schedule calls for debate engagements with Furman University, Greenville, S. C., today; Wofford College, Spartanburg, S. C., February 14; North Carolina State College, Raleigh, N. C., February 15; Lynchburg College, Charlottesville, N. C., February 16; Davidson College, Charlotte, N. C., February 17. The group plans to visit a number of other college campuses in the region during the trip, and will return next Sunday.

Subject of the debate on every engagement will be "Resolved, That the United States Should Cancel the Inter-Alleed War Debts." Emory will champion the negative side in the majority of contests.

"This will be Emory's major debate trip of the year," said Professor Goodyear. "The encounter with Davidson College will be of especial interest, as the two have been debating either in Atlanta or at Davidson for nearly 10 years." Emory University has carried on an extensive debate program for a number of years, meeting some of the best teams of this country, England and Ireland.

William Brady, of Atlanta, a prominent member of the sophomore class, gained a distinctive reputation as a speaker during the past democratic presidential campaign. Randolph Thrower, of Tampa, Fla., a junior, has been in the debate forum for three years. Boisefuel Jones, of Atlanta, a junior, also is prominent in student activities.

Hope That Redfern Is Still Alive Held by Parents of Brave Airman

Hope that Paul Redfern, youthful Georgia aviator who disappeared five years ago while on an attempted non-stop flight from Brunswick to Rio de Janeiro, Brazil, is not dead but is alive somewhere in South America, is still held by the aviator's parents, Dr. and Mrs. Frederick C. Redfern, of Raleigh, N. C.

Since August 5, 1927, when he took off from the Georgia city, little has been heard of the daring flyer—and because no piece of clothing, no part of a broken plane has been found, or definite word received that he is dead, his parents cling to the glimmer of hope, now fading, that their son still lives.

A few hundred miles from the South American coast, Redfern, with gasoline enough to fly 18 hours, dropped a note to a ship at sea. He was seen, it was thought, crossing Orinoco delta, and there all trace of him was lost. Rumors have emanated to the outside world during these last five years that the young Georgian is living among the native Indians, well treated but held captive. One man has actually claimed to have seen him, but in the absence of definite information Redfern remains among those brave aviators who have risked all to carry through the development of aviation. Many persons well acquainted with the route of his trip believe him lost in the area near the borders of Venezuela and British Guiana, though expeditions headed by eminent explorers reported that no sign of his plane has been discovered in that region. Meanwhile, Dr. and Mrs. Redfern continue to hope against hope that some day Paul will come back. They have enlisted the aid of governments, of countless expeditions, but nothing definite has been unearthed. But they still hope.

MACCABEES COMPLETE PROGRAM FOR BANQUET

Atlanta Maccabees are ready for the banquet at 6 o'clock Wednesday night to honor D. J. Conkey, supreme commander, and L. Biggs, supreme record keeper, both from the Maccabees' headquarters in Detroit.

M. D. Gleason, Atlanta commander; Miss Ruby Vickery, junior court director, and a committee of leading members of the local organization have perfected arrangements for the affair, which will be held at Sterchi's tea room.

Mayor James L. Key, Judge Edgar E. Pomeroy, former Governor Hugh M. Dorsey, Chief Justice Richard B. Russell, Judge E. D. Thomas, W. S. Richardson, county tax collector; Sheriff James I. Lowry, City Attorney James L. Mayson, J. P. McGrath, secretary Georgia Manufacturers' Association; J. E. Bodenhamer, examiner state securities commission; Thomas E. Rybert, Game Commissioner Peter Twitty, members of city council and other leading Atlantans have been invited to attend.

E. A. Rock, state commander, and R. E. Lehman, assistant state commander, will be present.

NOTED NEGRO MUSICIAN GIVES RECITAL TONIGHT

William Lawrence, young negro musician whose remarkable tenor voice has recently attracted the attention of leading critics in Paris, New York and Boston, will give a recital at Spelman College at 8 o'clock tonight. He will be accompanied by Lawrence Brown, formerly accompanist for Roland Hayes and Paul Robeson.

Lawrence, who first made an international reputation as a pianist, then as a composer, and now as a singer, studied at the New England Conservatory of Music in Boston under Kiaré, a pupil of Liszt, and Mrs. Frances L. Grover, in London under Matthay, and for the last five years in Paris under Sabaneyeff.

NEGRO PASTOR FOILS BURGLARY AT HOME

Three negro burglars were thwarted Sunday night when they attempted to ransack the home of Rev. L. W. Lane, negro pastor of the Flipper A. M. E. church, he reported to police.

Rev. Lane had been to preach a sermon in a church across the city and when he returned to his residence at 457 Foundry street, he saw the three men loading his bedspring on the top of a large sedan. He prevented them from ransacking the house but the men escaped, carrying the preacher's bedspring with them.

WHITE YOUTH, NEGRO HELD IN BURGLARIES

Two Arrests Follow Wave of Robberies in Stores and Homes.

A white youth and a negro man were arrested by police on charges of suspicion of burglary Sunday as many residences and stores were broken into during Saturday night and Sunday morning.

The white youth was Ralph Jones, 19, of 174 Hunter street, who was arrested early Sunday morning after officers became suspicious of a sack he had under his arm which they said contained two chickens. Another white man with Jones escaped while officers pursued Jones down Fair street to Grant, where they overtook him.

Clifford Johnson, alias Clifford Jackson, 34, of a Stephens street address, was arrested in the A. C. Rollins grocery store at 719 McDaniel street Sunday morning, police said. He told officers two other negroes with him escaped. Both the negro and Jones are held on suspicion.

Burglars escaped with $61 and valuable papers from a residence occupied by Mrs. J. F. Williams, Mrs. T. M. Blentch and Miss Martha Lazebny, they reported to police. Entrance was gained through the front door and several purses were stolen. Tobacco and groceries were stolen from a store at 1140 DeKalb avenue by burglars, and police were told the restaurant of Jack Sills, 925 Tenth

DECATUR LIBRARY OPENS CAMPAIGN FOR NEW MEMBERS

An intensive drive for new members and renewed memberships in the Decatur library will be launched today under the sponsorship of the Decatur Woman's Club. The campaign will be continued through this week.

Mrs. R. C. Henderson, vice president of the Woman's Club, and Mrs. A. B. Burrus, library chairman, are co-chairmen of the drive committee. Captains have been appointed for all sections of Decatur, Oakhurst and the Emory section and club members have been assigned to visit residents of their own neighborhoods.

The Decatur library is now six years old and has experienced rapid growth. There are now over 6,000 volumes on the shelves, it was stated. The average monthly circulation of books is approximately 3,000.

Augustus Sams is chairman of the board of directors, which includes Mrs. William Alden, Mrs. R. C. Henderson, Mrs. C. P. Roberts, Mrs. W. J. Sayward, Professor Lamar Ferguson and Thomas Cooper. Mrs. A. B. Burrus is librarian. The library is located on the second floor of the Decatur city hall building.

street, N. W., was entered during the night and a quantity of food taken. Several tires and automobile wheels were stolen from a filling station at Courtland and Harris streets, it was reported to police. Burglars smashed a window to gain entrance.

A combination burglary and hold-up was perpetrated upon Harry Willis, negro, of 970 Hunter street, early Sunday, he told police. Two negroes entered his home, and, finding no money, woke him up and forced him to give them his cash while they covered him with a pistol, he said. The amount was $9.

TARVER CRITICIZES PROHI OPPONENTS

Georgian Declares Repeal Advocates Have Helped To Increase Violation.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 12.—(AP)—Representative Tarver, of Georgia, told a Lincoln Day rally of the National Sentinels here today that most advocates of prohibition repeal had "done everything possible to increase violation" of the dry laws.

The National Sentinels is composed of groups of club and church women supporting the eighteenth amendment and is under the leadership of Mrs. Jesse W. Nicholson.

"If one-half of the money which has been spent in attacking prohibition, ridiculing its defenders, inciting people to disregard it and impeding its enforcement, had been spent in an effort to build up popular respect for the law, no law on our statute books would have been better enforced today," Tarver said.

He contended advocates of repeal "have built up the speakeasy and the law-violating" night clubs.

"They have the effrontery to charge that these things are the result of prohibition, when, as a matter of fact, they are in part a constituent of the liquor evil which prohibition seeks to destroy," he said.

The Georgian, who was one of those who voted recently to bar purchase of liquor by prohibition agents for evidence, said prohibitionists "should not only not support shady methods of enforcement, but they should be the first to condemn them."

Enforcement should not be entrusted, he said, to any but total abstainers and those who do not use "questionable means" to secure evidence.

PHYSICIANS, DENTISTS TO HEAR DR. EAST

Physicians and dentists of Atlanta and Fulton county and local state health authorities have been invited as the special guests at a banquet and lecture at the Piedmont hotel at 7:30 o'clock tonight at which Dr. Bion R. East will be the speaker. Dr. East is the consulting oral surgeon of the Children's Hospital of Michigan. He formerly was director of the dental division of the Detroit board of health and has been active in the public health field for years. The banquet will be given by the National Oil Products Company of Harrison, N. J., and is sponsored by Pedigree Dairies, Incorporated.

The subject of the address by Dr. East will be "Vitamin D Milk and Public Health," with particular reference to the world-famous process of incorporating Vitamin D in food, perfected by Dr. Theodore F. Zucker, assistant professor of pathology of the College of Physicians and Surgeons, Columbia University. Dr. Zucker had accepted an invitation to address the dinner but was prevented from coming to Atlanta by his sudden serious illness.

Mayor James L. Key will preside at the banquet. Dr. East will be introduced by Dr. Frank Eskridge, prominent Atlanta physician.

3 Killed, 12 Injured In Mill Explosion

LERANON, Va., Feb. 12.—(AP)—Twelve injured survivors of a mill explosion which claimed the lives of three persons at Dumps Creek in Clinch Valley were brought here tonight on trucks that made their way over mountain roads that were hazardous with mud and ice.

They were accompanied by six injured survivors of yesterday's blast. The dead were:

E. T. Kelly, 55; George Johnson, 85; and Sam Musick.

The injured brought here were: Cummings Musick, compound fracture of the jaw; Carl Breeding and Emmett Breeding, head injuries; Lester Breeding, jaw and face injuries, shoulder burns; Abel Breeding, burns and back injury; John Ball, face injuries; Arnold Ransick, leg injury and burns; Irwin Breeding, face and chest burns; Marvin Musick, burns; Lehman Musick, burns and face injury; Grayton and Lechard Musick, face and eye injuries.

11 Persons Killed In German Disorders

BERLIN, Feb. 12.—(AP)—Blood-stained streets in a number of German cities today told of political clashes over the week-end which caused 11 deaths and injuries to 23 persons.

At Eisenleben, the worst clash occurred. Police declined to discuss the fight until they had made an investigation. A troop of nazis claimed they had been shot from communist party headquarters.

The nazis stormed the building and demolished its furnishings. Then they entered the nearby Turnhall and engaged in a hand-to-hand fight for half an hour before police forced their way into the battling mob. Three were killed and 15 hurt.

The death toll there might be higher, for witnesses maintained that the communists had hidden their injured and dead comrades.

MRS. WAYNE WILSON HONORED BY PUPILS AT SUNDAY RECITAL

A recital honoring Mrs. Wayne Wilson, widely known Atlanta music teacher, was given by her pupils Sunday afternoon at the Atlanta Woman's Club and was followed by a tea at the club.

Henry C. Peeples presented Mrs. Wilson, who for many years has been a leading figure in Atlanta musical circles.

Appearing on the program were J. Stanley Perry, who sang a solo, accompanied by Miss Eda Bartholomew; Mrs. Lee Edwards, soprano, who rendered a solo, accompanied by Mrs. Andrew Fairlie and Mrs. Morris Sizer; Miss Eugenia Snow, piano solo; Mrs. Priscilla Loecker, cellist, accompanied by Mrs. Isabelle Bryan, and Mrs. Charlotte Woolford, contralto; Miss Bartholomew and Mrs. Fairlie also played a two-piano concerto. Mrs. Albert Thornton and Mrs. Jesse Draper helped serve at the tea. The club auditorium was filled.

Talmadge, Brittain Speak Tonight At Legion's State Products Dinner

On the roof of the Ansley hotel at 6:30 o'clock tonight and in every other town in the state where there is an American Legion post a strictly Georgia products dinner will be given. Governor Eugene Talmadge, who was commissioner of agriculture, before being elevated by the people to chief executive, and Dr. M. L. Brittain, president of Georgia Tech, will be the principal speakers at the Ansley dinner. There also will be several musical numbers.

An interesting feature of the Atlanta dinner will be the exhibits of leading Georgia growers and manufacturers of Georgia products. Entertainment features will be a program of songs rendered by Mrs. James C. Richardson, with Mrs. Charles Chalmers as her accompanist, and T. Stanley Perry, who will be accompanied by Mrs. Perry.

The most unusual feature of the dinner here, said Gordon Singleton, past commander of the Atlanta post and chairman of the dinner committee this year, will be the fact that every item on the menu will come from the farm of R. V. Crine, of Cairo.

"So far as I know," Singleton said, "this will be the first big public dinner in the entire country where every item on the menu from 'soup to nuts' has been furnished from the farms and plants of one man."

In Atlanta tickets to the dinner will be 75 cents.

DR. M. L. BRITTAIN.

Plans Under Way To Give Georgia Fine Exhibit at Chicago Exposition

Plans which will assure the state of Georgia one of the outstanding exhibits in the Chicago Exposition have been made known by Scott W. Allen, chairman of the Georgia Century of Progress commission, who announced that offices have been opened in the Chamber of Commerce building and that a program is well under way.

Wiley L. Moore, president of the Wolford Oil Company of Atlanta, has accepted the chairmanship for Fulton county, and plans to establish organizations in every county have been made.

The committee will meet at an early date, at which time, plans will be outlined to raise Fulton county's quota in defraying the expenses of Georgia's exhibit at Chicago. Approximately $5,000 will be needed to accomplish this end, and to raise this amount more than 3,500 business and civic leaders of the state have been selected to impress the people of Georgia with the advantageous publicity which would result from the exhibit. The Georgia exhibit will constitute

Germany Pays Tribute To Memory of Wagner

LEIPZIG, Feb. 12.—(AP)—Official and cultural Germany paid homage to Richard Wagner in the city of his birth one day before the world commemorates the fiftieth anniversary of his death. Chancellor Adolf Hitler, who is a close friend of the Wagner family, and Wilhelm Frick, Wilhelm Goering and Lutz Schwerin von Krosigk, of his cabinet, headed a distinguished assemblage which gathered before noon at the historic Gewandhaus. There a musical and oratorical program was presented.

COUNSEL PRESENTS GIRL'S REPUTATION IN SCOTTSBORO CASE

NEW YORK, Feb. 12.—(AP)—The International Labor Defense made public today a photostatic copy of a purported reputation by Ruby Bates, one of the white women who were complaining witnesses, of her charges in the assault case of the negro youths at Scottsboro, Ala., who are awaiting retrial after a supreme court reversal of death sentences imposed upon them.

The letter, as quoted by the International Labor Defense, was written January 5, 1932, to Earl Streetman, her sweetheart, and read in part: "I want you to make a statement to you. Mary Sanders is a... he about those negroes... those policemen made me tell a lie. That is my statement because I want to clear myself. It is all right if you want to believe me. If not that is ok. You will be sorry some day. If you had too stay in jail with eight negroes you would tell a lie two—Those negroes did not touch me or those white boys. I hope you will believe me the law don't. I love you better than Mary does or any body else in the world. That is why I am telling you of this thing... I know it was wrong to let those negroes die on account of me... I wish those negroes are not burnt on account of me. It is these white boys fault. That is my statement and that is all I know. I hope you tell the law hope you will answer."

The organization said the letter categorically denied "practically every point in the prosecution's case."

The letter was intercepted by police and held by them until it was ordered impounded on the motion of I. L. D. lawyers representing the negro boys.

The organization said the letter categorically denied "practically every point in the prosecution's case."

Vallee Reveals His Ambition To Be Arbiter of Radio World

By R. E. POWELL.

Rudy Vallee may still be making those "funny vocal sounds" at 45 but it will be in spite of an ambition to become an arbiter in the radio world like Will Hays in the movies and Judge Keneaw Mountain Landis in baseball.

The great crooner, on his first extensive tour of the south, disclosed his slant on future activity in an interview at the Biltmore Sunday afternoon while on his floor and in the lobby young ladies and elderly matrons mourned: "I'm so sorry he married."

Incidentally, Rudy disposed of that report about agreeing to disagree with Fay Webb. Mrs. Vallee, he explained, is just visiting a bit in California while he is building up the family exchequer.

His utter frankness is what impresses one in talking with Vallee. He is an engaging conversationalist and, when sufficiently attired, entirely capable of adding emphasis to his opinions by the use of one of the best-known American expletives.

Crowd Greets Crooner.

His arrival, with his Connecticut Yankees, at the Terminal station Sunday found a crowd of nearly 1,000 Atlantans awaiting him. It was one of the largest and most enthusiastic of his tour. It required something like an hour for him to push through a throng of autograph seekers and make his way to the hotel.

"But," he modestly said later, "Kate Smith or any other radio star of the last few years could expect the same thing."

Asked if he thought he was as popular as he was during the heyday of 1929 and 1930, Vallee said:

"If fan mail means anything, yes. Probably the best evidence, though, is the fact that R. K. O. is going to reproduce the 'Vocalion' record—something over my picture. The picture was put together in a hurry and I worked with an unsympathetic director. Another thing is that Paramount has offered to re-sign me."

Vallee talks of politics, economic conditions and England with the same facility he might be expected to use in discussing the trend of music.

"The entire country," he said, "is visibly affected by the clamor of the radio."

RUDY VALLEE.

the last two or three years. Ordinarily, this tour would have been a 'clean up' for us. As it is, it will end up pretty close to what it costs to make it.

"Audiences are not any less enthusiastic. They are smaller, but not because they don't want to go to the show. They haven't the money. The profit lies in the crowds that wait outside the theater."

Vallee said his principal interest in politics is now, and in the future would be, toward the alleviation of the country's ills from racketeering.

"I'm a New Englander, you know," he said, "and probably too frank for my own good—politically speaking. The criticism of one of my friends has been that I would probably denounce my own party. I could never agree to reward an incompetent for party reasons. And I would have nothing to do with any political activity not strictly aboveboard."

Happy Time At Maine.

He readily agreed that the Maine song, which has been translated into six languages—an international hit—is most frequently associated with his fame. The one year at Maine, before he went to Yale, was the happiest of his life, he said.

In connection with his future plans, Vallee said he hoped to devote his life to work on the air "either as a $1 a year man or as $50,000 per year official."

Asked if this meant to the exclusion of singing, he said: "Most assuredly." Rudy has put his foot down on all he has planned for him. In fact, he intimated rather strongly that he was tired of working while other people play. He spent a quiet evening and went to the S. A. E. fraternity houses at Tech and Emory for a brief visit. With his boys, he will be heard and seen at the Fox theater today at 3:15, 6:10 and 9:05.

Good general resistance is one of the most valuable defenses people have against the hazards of exposure.

A new concentrate of cod-liver oil vitamins, Squibb Adex Tablets-10 D provide an abundance of two important factors which help to maintain resistance and physical stamina—Vitamins A and D.

It was to give people who needed building up the advantage of these factors that physicians, for years, recommended good cod-liver oil.

Now Vitamins A and D are pleasantly, easily obtained with Adex. The tablets are chocolate coated, easy to take.

Start with them now! Used regularly every day, Adex tablets will help keep up good general resistance all through the spring.

All reliable drug stores sell them. Squibb Adex Tablets-10 D.

SECKATARY HAWKINS

THE YELLOW Y HAD TOLD THE RAT-FACED MAN THAT THE ONE WHO WOULD FIND THE CAVE BY THE PIT WHERE THE ROPE HANGS WAS SECKATARY HAWKINS. JECKERSON, DOC WATERS AND I SPRANG INTO THE GYPSY WAGON.

COME ON, DOC! LET'S GET HIM! YOU HOLD THE BOY HAWKINS!

THE RAT-FACE DASHED THRU THE FRONT DOOR WITH JECKERSON AND DOC AT HIS HEELS—I HELD THE BOY.

ALONE WITH THE YELLOW Y? HOW MANY TIMES I HAVE WISHED TO CAPTURE HIM! AND NOW HE IS MY PRISONER.

DON'T WEAKEN! I WILL HELP YOU, SIEGFRIED!

AND THEN HE BECAME CALM, AND RESTING HIS HEAD UPON HIS ARM, HE WENT TO SLEEP LIKE A LITTLE BABY—AND I WATCHED OVER HIM.

FRIENDLY COUNSEL

BY CAROLINE CHATFIELD

Problems of general interest submitted by readers will be discussed in this column. Correspondence invited. Your name held in confidence. Write Miss Chatfield, care The Atlanta Constitution.

A correspondent writes: "I recently participated in a controversy upon the following question: Let us have your views on it. 'Which is the biggest asset to the community, the rich man in it with his thousands of dollars worth of real estate, stocks and bonds, but with no child—or the poorest man in the community who has no money but who has one child?'"

One can't answer this query categorically unless it is made concrete by asking: "Is a certain rich man without a son more valuable to the community than a certain poor man with a son?" The answer to the abstract question is not without interest.

The rich man without spiritual ambition, without moral earnestness, without philanthropic purpose and performance, is not an asset to his community, but a liability. He spends his wealth to vitiate all the good influences at work in his community as Al Capone did in Chicago. He may use it to finance the underworld, to undermine law, to run illicit enterprises.

If the poor man has become pauperized, if he has suffered the awful pangs of poverty so long that he has lost his spirit and self-respect, if he has become a beggar and a pauper, a blameworthy or a roustabout, both he and his son are liabilities, and not assets, to the community in which they live. There is a great chance that a boy brought up in such an atmosphere

National Football Rules Committee Eliminates Sideline Play

Coaches Alexander and Mehre Worked Out Sideline Rule

Abolishment of the sideline play, one of the two constructive measures adopted yesterday by the national football rules committee, will speed up the game, add 12 to 17 per cent more plays to the average game and bring in brand-new strategy and thrills for the spectator—so says Coach William A. Alexander, head coach at Georgia Tech.

The rule provides that when a ball goes out of bounds it is immediately brought in 10 yards. When it is dead within a designated section 10 yards from the line it will be brought out to the 40-yard line. The move will be made quickly and without time out, thus speeding the game. "Statistics showed," said Coach Alexander, "that from 12 to 17 per cent of all football plays in games last year were out-of-bounds plays. Time lost in stopping the watch while the referee brought the ball in 15 yards added to the length of the game."

"I am convinced that the new rule will add considerable strategy of a sort which the spectator will appreciate. No appreciable strategy for the advancement of the ball existed under the old rule."

"I think we will now see a halfback try to fight his way down the sideline or pivot and try to escape to the center of the field instead of going out of bounds as he formerly would when chased toward the sideline," continued Coach Alexander.

"It is also sure that we will see reverse plays and spinners run back into that 10-yard zone. Formerly a quarterback who was within 10 yards of the sideline avoided that section because he did not want to get caught close to the line. Now that danger is gone. I also expect to see some good forward pass plays developed for special use in that sector."

"It adds immeasurably to the strategy of the game and will undoubtedly make for more plays of the sort which pleases the spectator by making the game more thrilling."

Which opinion seems to be unanswerable. The old sideline play was never attractive, never got anywhere and what strategy it offered was hardly worthwhile. It seems to me the man from the Flats is absolutely correct. And may I add—as usual.

The rule, as a matter of fact, was worked out by Coaches Alexander and Harry Mehre, the Georgia director. Mehre had the honor of introducing it and now finds it adopted. Mehre had an eye for those spinners down the sideline.

RULES COMMITTEE SCORES AGAIN

It is difficult to understand the annual hue and cry against the rules committee. There isn't a single rule in the code which one may point to as unworthy of being there.

The committee was criticized freely last fall but the rules they finally introduced were substantiated and indorsed by the men who originally opposed them.

And this year finds the committee improving the game by abolishing the out-of-bounds play. The only other change in the code was one which will do much to remove entirely the dangerous clipping play from football. The act of clipping (dropping across the back of an opponent's legs or feet) was legislated out of the game some time ago. The new change in the code merely amplifies that rule by prohibiting the act of running into a man from behind.

This rule change is immediately recognized as a constructive one. Football had become our greatest killer in the world of sport. There was no doubt about that. It had become, in the hands of one who wanted it to be, a dangerous game. The new rules have made it saner than ever before.

THE CARNERA AFFAIR

It was a cold night something more than a year ago. The setting was Ebbets field in Brooklyn. Carnera was meeting Sharkey.

It was more than just a fight. The big Italian, with the gargantuan height and size, and the loose, vacuous face, was to be found out, so to speak. The suspicion existed that he was just a big palookadookus, so to speak. But no one knew. He had the weight, some 260 pounds. He had a longer reach, by inches, than anyone else. He was in shape. He had met a lot of fifth and sixth raters.

Jack Sharkey was to fight him. The Sharkey man has never in all his career dodged a test. He met all those others dodged. It was he who had shown Harry Willis to be just a fair sort of heavyweight who had become a heavyweight issue on the basis of sympathy. And Sharkey was to see what Carnera had. Sitting there that night I watched Sharkey come in through the ropes. He always looks grim and a bit worried. Carnera grinned a loose-lipped grin, showing a wide expanse of teeth and also offering proof that he was one of the four out of five—not a pleasant looking person, the Carnera man.

For a while they went carefully—Carnera sticking that left—the one they claim sent Schaaf to the hospital, into Sharkey's face at least 20 times in the first three rounds. I watched Sharkey's nose and face become a bit splattered with red. But no blood came. And then Sharkey, finding that he could outbox him and that the blows weren't hurting, began to attack the body and swing for the jaw. He got Carnera down, saw him climb up to one knee and then lift that knee and then sink down again in violation of the rules. It was then that Sharkey raged around the ring and tried to quit it. But Buckley, his manager, shoved him back and he stayed to finish Carnera, leaving him a badly beaten man at the end of 15 rounds.

That Carnera left must have been driven stiffly into Sharkey's face and jaw some 35 times during that fight. It never did more than drive his head back a bit.

And it is that same left, a left jab, that is said to have sent Schaaf to the hospital. If so it is a changed left. It had no lethal qualities about it when Sharkey was in there meeting it.

There was no ticket to poppyland a year ago in Carnera's left. He is no better now—if as good as he was the night he faced Sharkey.

The odds are that Schaaf, who was just over a severe attack of influenza, collapsed from exhaustion instead of from the effects of Carnera's left hook.

The fight, which was branded a fake for two weeks before it occurred, seems to be saved by the fact that Schaaf is confined to a hospital. Blame for the near-tragedy must rest with the heads of Madison Square Garden officials. The fight game is a very hardy game indeed to take all it has. It is to be hoped that a man does not have to die to save the game's face.

SOUTHEASTERN LEAD IS HELD BY KENTUCKY

Alabama Has Chance To Draw Up Into Tie Tonight.

By Dillon Graham, Associated Press Sports Writer.

With Forest Sale, center on last year's all-conference team, leading the drive, Kentucky, which has won Georgia Tech in its only game last week and continued to lead the Southeastern conference basketball race with six victories and no defeats.

For more than half of the battle Saturday, the Yellow Jackets from Tech held their own with Kentucky, but in the second period the Wildcats touched off the spark to an offensive which quickly doubled the score and gave Kentucky a 45-to-22 victory.

Sale, alternating between center and forward, rolled up 19 points, while Demossey, the Wildcats' clever forward, followed with eight.

Alabama, winning a close game from Mississippi State, 38 to 30, held to second place. The sophomore team from State College led the Crimson almost to the final whistle.

BAMA, KENTUCKY.

The Alabama five, which has shown improvement with every game, has a chance today to give Kentucky its first defeat and draw up into a tie for first place. Alabama has a big advantage in the fact that it has Kentucky's and is conceding a fair chance of toppling the Wildcats at Birmingham.

Vanderbilt, in third place, won two of its three games, defeating Auburn, 21 to 20, and splitting a two-game series with Florida. Vanderbilt scored its second one-point victory in as many nights to beat Florida, 42 to 41, in their first contest. However, in the final game the Commodores were overwhelmed, 43 to 27, as Bob Pittman, scoring 18 points, led Florida's attack that would not be denied.

After nearly a fortnight's rest, Louisiana State returned to the campaign and divided two games with Tulane. A smooth passing Greene quintet won the first, 44 to 31, but L. S. U. took the second, 46 to 28, as its sophomore sharpshooters, Wade and Blair, found the range of the basket.

TECH BREAKS EVEN.

Georgia Tech broke even, losing to Kentucky and handing Sewanee its sixth successive defeat, 38 to 20. With a 22-to-21 victory over Auburn, Georgia brought its percentage up to .500, with a record of five wins and as many losses. Leroy Young, Georgia captain, shot but one field goal, but it came in the final seconds and brought victory.

This was Auburn's second successive defeat by one point and the fourth time this year the Plainsmen have dropped contests by a single point. The Plainsmen this year won another game by one point and lost one by three points. In a battle with Auburn been beaten more than three points.

After losing to Alabama, Mississippi State rallied to defeat the University of Mississippi twice, 40 to 36 and 32 to 25. Tennessee was idle from conference play.

In non-conference engagements, Georgia lost to Virginia, 31 to 17, and beat William and Mary, 33 to 32. Kentucky won from Mexico Falls, 31 to 22, and Georgia Tech beat the same team, 41 to 28. Vanderbilt lost to the Wichita Henry's, 40 to 38. Alabama downed Chattanooga, 53 to 28, and Tennessee beat Tennessee Wesleyan, 51 to 11.

Tulane divided a double bill with Mississippi, losing the first, 35 to 27, and winning the second, 37 to 32.

Jackets To Play Volunteers Tonight.

Swinging in the final stages of their pre-tournament basketball season, Roy McWhorter's Georgia Tech Yellow Jackets have three important court battles scheduled against Southeastern conference opponents this week.

Tonight at Knoxville, Tenn., the Jackets will seek to duplicate an earlier victory over Major Bill Britton's University of Tennessee Volunteers. Wednesday night finds Tech in Auburn, playing the Tigers of Sam McAllister in their first meeting of the season. Saturday night, Tech is in Athens for the third meeting of the three-game series with Rex Enright's Georgia Bulldogs. The teams are even in victories to date, Georgia having topped the first, 30-25, and Tech the second, 26-16.

Levinisky, Risko To Meet Friday

NEW YORK, Feb. 12.—(AP)—King Levinisky, Chicago's celebrated fish peddler, and Johnny Risko, the ancient but still durable heavyweight from Cleveland, get together to keep the center of the nation's flistic attraction in New York this week.

A 10-round battle between the "Kingfish" and the "Rubber Man" headlines the Madison Square Garden program Friday and takes the top spot on a national schedule which brings such stars as Tommy Loughran, Fidel LaBarba and Midget Wolgast into action.

CHATTANOOGA WINS.

The Highland Park quintet of Chattanooga, defeated the College Park Methodist team of the Atlanta Methodist League Saturday night at the Atlanta Athletic Club by a margin of 38-34. Crawford was the outstanding star for Atlanta and Mitchell and Hammond were best for the visitors.

GOODMAN PLAYS AT EAST LAKE, GETS FINE 77

Charley Yates Paces Foursome With 76; Conditions Not Ideal.

By Roy White.

Johnny Goodman, runner-up in the national amateur golf championship tournament last year and the youngest star who provided the excitement of the 1929 national amateur at Pebble Beach, Cal., when he eliminated Bob Jones, played his first round of golf in Atlanta Sunday at East Lake No. 1 course.

The Omaha (Neb.) star played in a foursome with Charley Yates, Georgia amateur champion; George Harris and Berrien Moore Jr., two members of the Tech golf team, and finished behind Yates with a 78. They all played good golf considering the condition of the course, from which ice had melted only a short time before.

Goodman was very much impressed with the course, particularly the first nine, which he played for the second time, making 27 holes for the afternoon. His score on the last nine was much better than on the first. He plans to play both the old and new courses several times during the week, while a guest of Yates.

In the dog fight on the new course, George Sargent, the East Lake professional, J. E. Johnson Jr., R. A. Stephenson and J. E. Choate finished first with a 151 for the best two ball scores, while C. W. Allen, Tom Adams, N. Patton and Harold Sargent finished second with a 152. Third place was won by Muggsy Smith, Travis Johnson, Bill Parish and Tom Stewart.

All the scores turned in at East Lake Sunday were a bit high, particularly on the first nine, but late in the afternoon some excellent shots were made that materially lowered the scores.

Other golf courses throughout the city reported a few reports Sunday afternoon for the first time in more than a week and indications point to more play during the next few weeks. The weather is just what the golfers need that are to be played early in March.

SCHAAF'S MIND IS STILL HAZY

NEW YORK, Feb. 12.—(AP)—Ernie Schaaf, heavyweight boxer who suffered a severe head injury in his bout with Primo Carnera, today told Madison Square Garden Friday night, was able to receive visits from his mother and sister and from his manager, Johnny Buckley. The injury has been diagnosed as an intra-cranial hemorrhage.

The bulletin issued by Dr. William Healey and Dr. S. Philip Goodhart said:

"Mr. Schaaf's condition remains unchanged. Pulse 70, temperature 100, respiration 20."

Buckley added that the boxer seemed able to recognize the voices of the visitors but "stared blankly" at their faces.

Southeastern Investigation Is Planned

NASHVILLE, Tenn., Feb. 12.—(AP)—Investigation of athletic conditions in the southeastern conference by the Carnegie Foundation will be proposed in a resolution being prepared by Dr. C. Glenn, faculty chairman of Vanderbilt University, for presentation to the meeting of the new group at Atlanta on February 24.

This move follows virtually the same action of the Southern conference a month ago—a request that the Southern Association of Schools and Colleges investigate athletic conditions of all southern institutions.

"No one on the inside really is competent for this investigation," Dr. Glenn said, "and there would be a general lack of confidence. The Carnegie Foundation is admirably fitted for such, and I will suggest that it be asked to make the investigation."

Fort Mac Horses In Miami Show

MIAMI, Fla., Feb. 12.—(AP)—Dashing hunters, gaited saddle mounts, nimble polo ponies and majestic heavyweights will be placed on display in the Miami-Biltmore national horse show, the first event of its nature in Florida, to open at Tropical park race track February 18.

A number of showhorses already have been brought here for the five-day event. Among arrivals this week will be Roxie Highlander, owned by Mary Gwyn Fiers, of Oklahoma City, Okla., and never yet beaten in a prize ring, and King's Genius, her stablemate.

Cavalry horses will be sent here from Fort Oglethorpe, Ga., and from Fort McPherson, Ga.

PAGE EIGHT THE CONSTITUTION, ATLANTA, GA., MONDAY, FEBRUARY 13, 1933.

Yeaahhhhh! Freshman!

Harry Mehre, right, head coach of the Georgia football team, is shown here as a timid freshman starting in the freshman law class at Georgia. He is meeting "Teacher" for the first time and "Teacher" happens to be Bob McWhorter, perhaps the greatest halfback Georgia ever had and for several years now professor in the law school.

Where's That 'Rat' Cap, Mr. Freshman Mehre?

Georgia Coach Is in Law School Preparing Arguments for Next Fall.

By Ralph McGill.

Humming that bright little Mother Goose rhyme, "A dollar, a dollar, a dollar, a dollar," Freshman Harry Mehre washed carefully behind his ears and trotted off to school last week.

Mr. Mehre, who is pictured above somewhere, has entered the law school at the University of Georgia and is trying to find out what happens if Mr. A lends Mr. B $50 and takes a cow as collateral, the aforesaid cow dying before the aforesaid Mr. A reaches home, as aforesaid, and so forth and so on, rule 11, not-prosse.

And pals, I feel sad. Because it looks as if Mr. Mehre, always a good hand at Pullman smoking room arguments, will just about have his own way next fall.

WANTS TO ARGUE.

I put no stock at all in the reports that Mr. Mehre is trying to find out whether the law provides a penalty for shooting a football official.

Bob McWhorter, who is pictured above with Harry Mehre in the photograph, was perhaps the greatest halfback Georgia ever had. And I say that with complete conviction. I wonder how many years he has had to say the same thing, viz.: "My dear fellow, I have no intention of giving up land racing and have never given up."

The decision of Harry Mehre to start in as a freshman did not surprise me. It brought back to the sports page the likeness of grand old Bob McWhorter—not so old as years go but a bit old as football goes.

Bob McWhorter, who is pictured above with Harry Mehre in the photograph, was perhaps the greatest halfback Georgia ever had. And I say that with complete conviction. I wonder how many years he has had to say the same thing, viz.: "My dear fellow, I have no intention of giving up land racing and have never given up."

The Bluebird, Sir Malcolm's powerful 2,500-horsepower racing machine, is again threatened by a brush fire. Excited crowds learn of the danger and rush to the garage where it is stored only to discover that somebody has been puffing excitedly on a cheap stogie. Where there's smoke...

ANNUAL ULTIMATUM.

The Daytona Beach racing commission delivers the annual ultimatum: "Sir Malcolm, we cannot allow the Bluebird to race in the annual ultimate of the circuit gives the word that Harry Strohm, the Travelers' playing manager, already has started a hunt for a younger man to play first—Class B man preferred—and that if he is successful, the veteran Griffin will trudge that lonesome road known as the waiver route, the same being virtually equivalent to outright release now."

Strohm told newspapermen at the close of the last season that he intended retaining Sir 1932 Traveler Griffin intact for 1933 with the possible exception of Griffin. This meant that Harry himself intended to play third again, with Nicolai at short and Buck Redfern at second. Little provision was made for Ivy, who has been the fourth member of the quartet since he went to the club three years ago.

He undoubtedly played his best ball with Atlanta's famous "Puck" team of '19 and later in the American association. The shoulder injury received in his scrap with George M. Cerkworth, later to become a major league umpire, left his throwing arm stiff.

PETRELS PLAN DIAMOND WORK IN TEN DAYS

Opening Series To Be Played With Crackers April 6-7.

By Jack Troy.

If a vagarious weather god should happen to be benevolent, Oglethorpe University's baseball squad will begin practice within 10 days.

Last year the Oglethorpe nine was out of the game for a long time, but this year the team is in better shape. The team is in better shape. The team is in better shape.

Before freezing weather set in, Coach Frank Anderson could be found after hours at Oglethorpe raking the diamond and pleased with prospects of another early start in baseball.

He is hopeful that the recent freeze acted as a stranglehold on winter in this section and that another week or 10 days will bring conditions suitable for diamond activities.

Anderson is planning a large schedule for the Petrels, beginning with a two-game series with the Crackers April 6 and 7 at Ponce de Leon park. The remainder of the schedule will include college nines largely.

With the return of Chink Martin, small but capable shortstop, the Petrel infield is seemingly fixed. Parker Bryant is back at first base and Munford Whitely is ready to take over the duties at second base again.

INFELD PROBLEM.

Frank Anderson Jr. departs to leave a vacancy at third base, which is the big infield problem. Fischer, a freshman last year, is considered a good prospect. Willie Beasly, a senior, and Currie Martin are other candidates for first base.

Eddie Anderson, another member of the great baseball family of Anderson, probably will be shifted to the outfield. Coach Anderson stated, Coach Anderson's sons have shown a preference for second base, but the demand caused the shifting of Frank from second to third and the same thing is going to send Eddie to the outfield.

Sam Baker, Riggins, Reed Craven and Anderson will form the outfield nucleus, with "Dizzy" Vance established back of the plate. E. Clark, Lefty Dixon, Harry Walker and Wood Campbell, an incoming sophomore, compose a capable diamond staff. Craven is also a catcher.

VILLAINS HOLD MAT SPOTLIGHT

Unless Frank McCarroll, highly-touted grappler from the great west, proves a pleasant surprise, the mat will have things all their own way at the auditorium stages his weekly wrestling card.

Both Jack Zarnos, Ohio University Greek, and William Hewitt, hefty Canadian, who meet in the two-hour main event match, have made themselves cordially detested by the customers here in recent weeks for their readiness to take any and every advantage of their opponents (see Mr. Paul Harper, of Texas). Pat Hurley, foeman of McCarroll in the one-hour semi-final, belongs to the same school as he proved in a bout with Paul Jones some time ago.

All the excitement will be by no means confined to the main event. Tuesday, Weber declares, Pat Hurley, not long ago a football star at Columbia, meets McCarroll, a newcomer to these parts, who has been hailed in his home section as bearing all the earmarks of a coming champion.

Fans are urged to secure their tickets in advance today or tomorrow at the Miner & Carter Drug Company or the Piedmont Hatters.

Strohm told newspapermen at the close of the last season that he intended retaining Sir 1932 Traveler Griffin intact for 1933 with the possible exception of Griffin. This meant that Harry himself intended to play third again, with Nicolai at short and Buck Redfern at second. Little provision was made for Ivy, who has been the fourth member of the quartet since he went to the club three years ago.

Griffin Facing Fight To Hold Traveler Job

By Jimmy Jones.

Try Griffin, the first baseman on Charley Frank's last pennant winner—the Atlanta Crackers of 1919—and since that time holder of petitions with clubs in the Southern league and American association, is facing a fight to retain his job on the infield of the Little Rock Travelers this spring.

A dispatch from the Kansas member of the circuit gives the word that Harry Strohm, the Travelers' playing manager, already has started a hunt for a younger man to play first—Class B man preferred—and that if he is successful, the veteran Griffin will trudge that lonesome road known as the waiver route, the same being virtually equivalent to outright release now.

10-YARD ZONES TO BE PLACED ON GRIDIRONS

Dead Ball To Be Brought Out; Clipping Is Restricted.

PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 12.—(AP) The national football rules committee, closing its annual sessions today, made only two changes in the playing code for 1933. One eliminated the sideline play while the other established a new definition of clipping with the view of legislating that practice out of the game.

In order to eliminate the sideline play, the committee decided to establish side zones, 10 yards in width on either side of the field. When the ball becomes dead within these zones it will be moved immediately to a point 10 yards in from the sideline without time being taken. If the ball goes out of bounds, it will be brought in 10 yards from the sideline instead of 15 yards as heretofore.

'FUTILE PLAYS OUT.

The committee declared this change would eliminate futile sideline plays against clipping, but it could not actually be eliminated from the game, the rule-makers set up a new definition which will make it illegal for a player to run into the back of an opponent not carrying the ball. This amplifies the previous rule against throwing or dropping the body across the back of the leg or legs of the opponent below the waist. In the interests of stricter enforcement of the rule against clipping, the penalty was reduced from 50 yards to 15.

Many other suggestions made by coaches, officials and others interested in the game were studied by the committee, but definite action was not taken on any of them. Some were referred to subcommittee for study to study all suggested changes in full advance of consideration by the full committee, even to the extent of trying them out in actual scoring, in order to establish their merits.

STEGEMAN NAMED.

Serving on the subcommittee will be Chairman Walter R. Oleson, of Belton, Tex.; Secretary William S. Langford, of New York; H. Stegeman, of Georgia; Dana N. Bible, of Nebraska; Lou Little, of Columbia; and F. A. Lambert, of Ohio State.

The rule-makers listened to a preliminary report on last season's injuries which showed a marked decrease from the preceding year. Some 50 fatal accidents were reported. The report showed a tremendous reduction in injuries attributed to blocking and tackling as well as on kick-offs. Drastic changes in the rules last year were directed against the flying block and flying tackle as well as against the "wedge" on kick-offs.

The report revealed a decrease of 97 per cent in injuries from flying tackles, indicating this practice had virtually disappeared from the game.

CAMPBELL SEES BETTER BEACH

DAYTONA BEACH, Fla., Feb. 12.—(AP)—Prospects that Sir Malcolm Campbell, here seeking to break his own world's automobile speed record of 235 miles an hour, might be able to make a test run soon, appeared bright today.

A nine-mile stretch of beach where he will make his trials, has been too rough recently for him to test out his Bluebird. The beach has improved the last 24 hours the course has improved considerably.

Ridges that have corrugated the beach have been smoothed out, making high-speed driving dangerous. Campbell has hopes that another high tide two days will put the sands in suitable condition for a trial run.

Purdue Seems Out In Title Race

CHICAGO, Feb. 12.—(AP)—The Western conference basketball championship situation tonight had been refined down to four first flight contenders, and the defending champion, Purdue, appeared hopelessly out of the race.

With a week of strictly championship business coming up, Ohio State, Northwestern, Michigan and Iowa ranked at the top.

The standing in conference competition only:

Michigan	4	1	.800	153	117
Iowa	4	2	.667	191	161
Illinois	3	2	.500	166	165

ROUND TABLE OF BUSINESS

A General Weekly Review of Commerce and Industry Affecting the Greater Atlanta Trade Territory

Edited By JACK TUBBS

Importance of Savings Is Stressed by Executive of Empire Trust Company

REGULAR DEPOSITS CREATE FORTUNES, KENNEDY ASSERTS

Old Adage Cited in Plea for Establishment of Financial Bulwark
Against Depression.

"Great oaks from little acorns grow." Countless times the reader has seen that phrase used, and countless times, declares Henry B. Kennedy, president of the Empire Trust Company, he has passed lightly over it without grasping its true meaning, or without thought of its original moral.

Ask Mr. Kennedy, and he will tell you of the miniature sermon it preaches. "Just as surely as acorns will grow into giant oaks," he says, "cents will grow into dollars if they are planted in good soil and cultivated correctly. But," he adds, "they must be planted in a bed of good intentions; the soil must be loosened by means of industry; persistence must be practiced to prevent the plants from dying in infancy; economy as a fertilizer must be used to hasten their growth; and they should be watered frequently and freely with honest sweat. If these things are remembered, fruitage of dollars will surely grow, but should not be gathered until it is essential to the owner's well-being."

"It is essential," he says, "that the crop should not be gathered until some rainy day."

The Empire Trust Company, with offices at 54 Broad street, N. W., offers safe, adequate and convenient facilities for the planting of cents and dollars, and pays the depositor 4 per cent interest on his savings. One of Atlanta's best-known banking institutions, it long has fostered the will to save among its depositors, and in return has offered them a secure place to "plant," well sheltered from the storms of depression.

A little money put into a savings bank, says Mr. Kennedy, is not a talent hidden away. It is earning more money all the time. Like heartbeats, its work goes on while its owner sleeps, and even Sundays and holidays it keeps up its constant growth, with no one complaining of broken laws.

By way of illustration, he points out the following results of persistent savings for five years, without withdrawals, and not counting the steadily accruing interest:

One cent a day will be $18.18.
Ten cents a day will be $182.55.
Fifty cents a day will be $912.58.
One dollar a day will be $1,825.

The men who are rich today, he asserts, were in nine cases out of ten poor in early life. Their earnings were at first very small, but their expenses were still less; the difference was saved carefully, deposited in some safe place, made to yield interest, and thus foundations were slowly and securely laid for large accumulations.

"Savings banks," says Mr. Kennedy, "are admirably calculated to produce such results. When one has money by him, he is constantly tempted to spend it for articles not absolutely necessary, and often is induced to invest in luxuries and amusements absolutely pernicious. If, however, he deposits it in a savings bank every week or every month, it will increase and multiply."

HEALTHY ADVANCE SHOWN BY BONDS

By VICTOR EUBANK.

NEW YORK, Feb. 12.—(P)—Overcoming the lethargy and heaviness marking its behavior earlier in the month, the bond market enjoyed a considerable rise last week on an ascending scale of business.

An active revival of interest in rail bonds, chiefly the second grade issues, furnished momentum for the upward movement which embraced nearly all categories.

United States governments were an exception, showing periodic heaviness, which was associated with uncertainty surrounding the treasury's immediate financing plans.

The fresh appeal of rails to those seeking both speculative and investment opportunities in the bond market was viewed by some traders as a reflection of a more cheerful long range view of the transportation industry.

In any event, demand for the carrier obligations was lifted sharply. Foreign loans, another recently depressed portion of the market came back with the rest of the list. There were particularly good recoveries all through the German group.

The domestic utility and industrial divisions furnished no unusual developments, but high grade members of the former section displayed quiet strength.

There was also a tendency toward improvement in many of the oil, steel, and miscellaneous varieties. This market observers felt, was in response to a better outlook for interest coverage this year in connection with further economies in operating costs.

Money placed with the Empire Trust Company, says Mr. Kennedy, will be loaned out and invested upon the very best security. The company, he asserts, causes careful examination to be made of securities offered as collateral, and is never tempted by offers of large rates of interest to risk a single dollar of its depositors' or stockholders' money upon securities of doubtful character. The company's first attention, he states, is bestowed upon the safety of loans and investments, with due but subordinate regard to profits. Besides its savings department, the Empire Trust Company offers checking accounts, makes mortgage loans, handles investments and insurance, and offers also a trust service for its clients.

BUSINESS SHOWS GENERAL PICK-UP

Shoes, Textiles Improved.
Carloadings Register Increase for Week.

By CLAUDE A. JAGGER.

NEW YORK, Feb. 12.—(P)—Stiffness of commodity markets, and the stimulus of cold weather, gave a somewhat better tone to general business during the past week.

The heavy fall of snow in wide areas tended to interfere with retail trade to some extent, but where shoppers were not kept away from stores by inclement weather, many merchants reported sharp pickups in the demand for cold weather merchandise. The best reports continued to come from such lines as shoes and textiles, while heavier industries remained largely sluggish.

Car Loadings Gain.
The effect of the colder weather was particularly noticeable in the weekly freight car loadings figures, which showed a gain in coal loadings, over the previous week, of 10,224 cars. This was the chief factor in an aggregate increase for Class 1 railroads of 11,104 cars, which was slightly larger than seasonal.

Steel production held around 19 per cent of capacity, with some improvement at Pittsburgh and Youngstown tending to offset slackening elsewhere. With the Ford Motor Company again resuming operations, however, the temporary tieup as result of the Briggs labor trouble, automotive taking of steel may improve.

Bank clearings as reported by the mercantile agencies for the first week of February showed a gain over the previous year for the first time in more than two years, but the comparison was distorted by the fact that the weekly figures this year caused the February 1 settlements, while the corresponding week of last year did not.

Shoe Business Improves.
Among the more active industries, reports from the shoe manufacturers indicated that new business was fully up to a year ago. Clothing manufacturers were reported working near capacity in many instances on spring merchandise.

The steel industry still suffers from the lack of business from the railroads and from building and construction, although construction has felt the effects of a few large public projects of late. The railroads are awaiting report of the national transportation committee with considerable hope.

The railroads have, of late, been able to show improvement in net operating revenues through reductions in expenditures, but in the meantime, important sections of industry are suffering from the lack of buying by these relatively large consumers of such materials as steel and lumber.

BETTER DAYS SEEN IN WHEAT MARKET

CHICAGO, Feb. 12.—(P)—Better days in the wheat market, with nature getting the credit, are foreseen by students of grain trading along Chicago's La Salle street.

Predictions were made of a shortage of the new wheat crop and a better demand throughout the world. The world's statistical position for wheat has been slowly improving, said Nat C. Murray, one of the leading specialists in forecasting grain production.

Mark W. Pickett, president of the Grain Market Analysts Club, said traders' hopes have been increased by prospects that the new crop year will start with smaller stocks and lessened production.

World supplies of wheat are much lower than a year ago, Murray believes. For the crop year ending July 1, 1932, world carryover was about 40,000,000 bushels, lower than the previous year. As an even greater factor, Russia exports this year apparently have "topped" approximately 25,000,000 bushels from 75,000,000 in 1931-32.

Although the condition of the winter crop in southeastern states has not been accurately determined, Murray said, weather conditions have been severe since the final government report, which was the most bearish in years.

The De Soto Motor Corporation reported January retail deliveries totaled 4,215 cars, against 1,440 in January last year and 1,128 cars in January, 1931.

Market Will Observe Birthday of Lincoln

NEW YORK, Feb. 12.—(P)—The country's financial markets, with few exceptions, will observe Lincoln's birthday with a holiday tomorrow. All markets and banks in New York will be closed, while over the country business on the exchanges will generally be suspended. The New Orleans Cotton Exchange is to be open.

STEEL ACTIVITIES ARE ENCOURAGING

CLEVELAND, Feb. 12.—(P)—While iron and steel activity "hangs in the balance," developments over the week-end were "encouraging for the long pull," the magazine Steel said today.

Steel making operations barely held at 19 per cent in the week ended yesterday, and the decline of 3.5 per cent in unfilled orders of United States Steel on January 31 suggests that "improvement in production in January may have overrun new business."

As an offset, the magazine said in its weekly review, such major districts as Pittsburgh and Youngstown have brought in more capacity, neutralizing curtailment at Cleveland, Buffalo and Birmingham; Ford has resumed and is expected to release substantial requirements this week; an important rail inquiry is being formulated; and a number of large structural projects are a step nearer maturity.

The January showing in steel production when the daily rate was increased to 38,704 tons from 32,485 in December, was made almost entirely without the assistance of such heavy consuming industries as railroads, farm implements and structural steel.

The lift thus far in 1932 has been the result of numerous small consumers becoming more active, plus a rate of assembly of automobiles outrunning January and February a year ago. To the shutdown of Ford January 26 and the consequent far-reaching hold-up of material, considerable of the recovery in demand may be attributed, and Ford business will be an important factor in the last half of February.

Recent weakness in sheet and strip prices may be selling which has lent a sounder appraisal of the price situation. Scrap is less buoyant than a week ago. Pig iron shipments are continuing in February the improvement which set in last month.

BRIGHTER TREND
RULES CURB LIST

By JOHN L. COOLEY.
NEW YORK, Feb. 12.—(P)—Recovery of utility stocks and renewed activity among gold mining issues gave the curb brighter appearance last week.

With the power and light equities relieved of the selling which has lent them sharply during the preceding week, the general market responded to an improvement in speculative sentiment. Some reaction occurred to the end of the trading period, but it was again noted that volume slackened on declines.

Alabama Power preferred and Electric Bond & Share were sturdy, creditable strength, while the upward trend was in progress.

Canadian gold mining shares came to the fore toward the week-end, and were especially vigorous in Pioneer, which pushed up a major fraction to 1-1/8, a new high.

Shipbuilding was strong in the low-priced specialty group, more than doubling its quotation in anticipation of the 10-cent dividend declaration. Aston Fisher Tobacco and Philip Morris were heavy.

Oil was mixed, apparently being disposed to await further price developments.

Baldwin Locomotive Works reported January new business totaled $517,000, against $468,000 in December.

The bureau of railway economics reported December net income of Class 1 railroads was $32,556,895, against $27,618,392 in December, 1931.

Chevrolet Motor Co. reported January sales of 64,594 cars and trucks, the largest monthly output since July, 1931.

The Detroit Board of Commerce industrial activity index rose to 107 for January, against 101 in December, 1932.

COTTON MOUNTS $1 A BALE A WEEK

Congressional Activities
Prove Fluctuation Factor in Market.

By BERNARD S. O'HARA.

NEW YORK, Feb. 12.—(P)—Alternating dips and rallies left the cotton market at the end of the past week about $1 a bale higher than at the end of the previous period.

Until close to the week-end, when shorts appeared to become a bit nervous and trade-buying broadened measurably, price movements were inconclusive and confusing, though the market continued to demonstrate a capacity for moving easily in either direction on a small volume of operations.

Conversations in congress on proposed measures for the relief of the cotton farmer claimed much attention from the trade, and there were intervals when the market appeared to vibrate on the fluctuating prospects of the domestic allotment plan and the Smith bill. Most traders hesitated, however, when it came to interpreting the market's interpretation of the legislative outlook.

Prices had a mild bulge on Saturday, following the news that the Smith bill had been favorably reported to the senate, but the only effect of this movement was to draw selling of convenient terms to Atlanta motorists on either tires or batteries. This has enabled thousands of car owners in this city to equip their cars with first quality tires and batteries, since they did not have to pay the entire cost in cash at one time. Thus, they have obtained better mileage and satisfaction than if they were forced to purchase inferior quality products because their available cash may have been low when they were needed.

The plan is very simple in operation. The motorist selects the type of tire or battery he prefers and arranges them to be made to permit him to pay for his purchase in divided payments over a period of time. There are no inflexible rules or red tape. Every effort is made by the Brooks-Shatterly Company to arrange the terms to suit the convenience of the individual customer.

In addition to being the largest independent tire and battery dealer, the Brooks-Shatterly Company carries a complete line of hardware, tools, implements and seeds at its Lakeview store, 1643 Jonesboro road. Its downtown store at Spring and Walton streets specializes in tire and battery sales and service.

Briefs From the Business World

The Savings Bank Association of New York reported an increase of $2,368 in the number of savings accounts in the state for January with an increase of $2,152,912 in deposits, bringing the total to $5,302,704,915.

John N. Willys, chairman of the Willys Automobile Company, said shipments of 1933 models last month exceeded shipments last year by 87 per cent.

Authorities in Toledo said employment in 51 plants, mainly automobile, increased during the past week, bringing total employment for February 10 to 12,008, the highest number in two years.

Steel mills in the Youngstown district, authorities said, for next week will be at 21 per cent of capacity, unchanged from this week and a point above last week.

The National Automobile Chamber of Commerce announced that January production by its members was 5 per cent above January, 1932, the first comparative rise since August, 1931. Output of 155,915 cars and trucks was 58 per cent above December.

Construction of a $500,000 cold rolling mill, described as the largest of its type, has been ordered by the American Sheet and Tin Plate Company, a subsidiary of the United States Steel Corporation.

Resuming operations after a long suspension, the E. W. Bliss Company, at Salem, Ohio, announces business sight to insure six months' operation, hires 75 to 100 men.

Pennsylvania's road culvert pipe for the year of 1933 will be made by Martin's Ferry, Ohio, plant of the Wheeling Steel Corporation, necessitating the rehiring of 100 men. The mill, W. Va., plant of the corporation also has re-employed 200 men.

C. W. Mathewson, general sales manager of the Graham-Paige Motors Corporation, has reported receipt of shipping orders from distributors and dealers amounting to a new 1933 production schedule. He said it would be necessary to step up the production

Brooks-Shatterly Offers Convenient Terms on Tires

E. C. SHATTERLY.

A feature of the merchandising plan of the Brooks-Shatterly Company, Seiberling tire distributors, is its offer of convenient terms to Atlanta motorists on either tires or batteries. This has enabled thousands of car owners in this city to equip their cars with first quality tires and batteries, since they did not have to pay the entire cost in cash at one time. Thus, they have obtained better mileage and satisfaction than if they were forced to purchase inferior quality products because their available cash may have been low when they were needed.

Its downtown store at Spring and Walton streets specializes in tire and battery sales and service.

Employment in Cleveland during January showed a gain in the textile group.

The magazine Steel says that pig iron production for January increased 3.9 per cent over December with a daily output of 18,348 gross tons.

The department of commerce in its monthly review said that "usual" January pickups were noted in steel, lumber, electric power industries and some consumer goods and that business generally followed a seasonal upturn.

The Carmen Company, Inc., of New York, has announced plans to erect a construction son of a new $125,000 factory at Bonton, N. J., for production of soap specialties.

Important dividend meetings scheduled for this week include United Fruit, American Telephone & Telegraph and International Harvester. Others are Texas Gulf Sulphur, Armour of Delaware (for action on preferred stock), Commercial Investment Trust and Penick & Ford.

Drug, Inc., has notified the New York Stock Exchange of a proposed change in the capital stock to $10 par value from no par.

Coincident with the slight increase in mill schedules, prices for scrap steel show a firmer tendency in some leading markets. On recent transactions in Pittsburgh the average price was reported raised to $8.50 a ton from $8.25 before.

The Nashville, Chattanooga & St. Louis railroad reported December income of $94,167, against a loss of $21,206 in December, 1931.

R. G. Dun & Co. reported January business failures numbered 2,919, against 3,458 in January, 1932.
